COMMENT ON FORTHCOMING ELECTIONS FOR NATIONAL ASSEMBLY DEPUTIES

Sofia RABOTNICHESKO DELO in Bulgarian 13 May 81 p 3

[Article by Gava Dulbokov, first deputy chairman of the National Council of the Fatherland Front: "High Expression of Democracy"]

[Text.] Our people are enthusiastically preparing themselves for a great political event: the elections for the Eighth National Assembly and for the local power organs, which will be held on 7 June 1981. In an atmosphere of high political and labor upsurge throughout the country, at their meetings the working people have discussed profoundly and on the basis of the high standards of the 12th Party Congress the candidates for people's representatives, people's counselors, mayors, judges and jurors who were nominated by the Fatherland Front.

As the body which expresses the will of the people and their sovereignty, coordinates the legislative activities of the state and exercises supreme control, the Seventh National Assembly is ending its turn with a positive balance. The legislative, control and organizational role of the National Assembly and of its permanent commissions has been enhanced. Important laws were discussed and passed, regulating socialist social relations related to the building of the material and technical foundations of the developed socialist society. This represents the practical implementation of its functions of supreme organizer of the planned management of social development, entrusted to it by the Bulgarian Constitution. It is also a manifestation of the increased activity of the people's representatives, their direct participation in administration of the state, and the will of the electorate they represent.

Activists loyal to the cause of socialism will be elected members of the Eighth National Assembly. The registered candidate people's representatives were nominated on the basis of their social, practical and moral qualities. Some of them belong to the main governmental nucleus of the party and the state, headed by Todor Zhivkov, BCP Central Committee general secretary and State Council chairman; others are heads of public organizations and movements or of okrug or obshtina people's councils; still others are noted personalities in economic or production work. In terms of political affiliation, compared with the Seventh National Assembly, the number of candidates from the two political parties has been reduced, while the number of non-party people has been increased. The share of people directly engaged in material production has been increased from 67 to 80 percent. A greater number of candidates have engineering or legal training, have specialized in other areas, or are men of science and culture. Compared with the previous national assembly the number of women has increased. Of the nominated candidates 51 are heroes of the Bulgarian people's republic or of socialist labor. Such extensive representation and proper combination of various professions and social groups is a guarantee that the complex and responsible tasks of the Eighth Five-Year Plan will be implemented competently.

The future people's representatives will be guided in their work by the decisions of the 12th Party Congress and the guidelines issued by Comrade Todor Zhivkov on making the Eighth Five-Year Plan a five-year plan of accelerated application of the latest achievements of the scientific and technical revolution, the increased intellectualization of labor and production, the comprehensive conversion to intensive development of the economy and the other areas of social life, and the systematic application of the economic approach. They will concentrate their attention on the ever fuller satisfaction of the comprehensive needs of the working people.

The instructions which will be issued to the candidates for people's representatives are of major political and social significance. They are a manifestation of socialist democracy and of the direct participation of the people in management. That is why, displaying a feeling of responsibility, the future people's representatives, relying on the Fatherland Front and the initiative of the voters, and with the direct assistance of state and economic organs, the people's representatives must convert such instructions into actions. Only thus can they deserve and justify the trust of the others and properly fulfill their political and civic duties.

The high political conscientiousness of the Bulgarian voters was vividly manifested in their widespread and active participation in the preparations for and holding of the elections.
